

DYNAMIC EXAM Question 3, 2006

Exception Essay by Paola Possenti

James has just turned seven. His behaviour this year has deteriorated to the point where his mother says he is becoming out of control. He is being excluded from class due to his outbursts and this is affecting him socially as well as academically. He is a bright child and generally a delightful and charming little boy. His mother is now feeling pressured to medicate James, but is concerned this will destroy his personality and is not keen to follow this path. She has come to see you as a last resort, feeling that by gaining an understanding of the current energies affecting James she may better understand how and when further changes are more likely. She is not asking for you to make any decisions, but to assist her understanding of the planetary influences and how they can best be used in a positive manner.

Using personal planetary cycles and their effect on James throughout 2006/2007, e.g. Saturn cycle, Mars cycle and progressed Moon, what guidance can you give his mother regarding the transformation he has undergone, and is undergoing, and some suggestions that may facilitate positive change in his responses to the influences around him. (Birth data August 25 1999, 9:02 pm Bathurst NSW, Asc. near 15 Aries).

What About James? by Paola Possenti

2006 – 2007

“Obstacles cannot crush me. Every obstacle yields to stern resolve. He who is fixed to a star does not change his mind”. Leonardo DaVinci’s ‘Notebooks’

FOREWORD

Life is a journey, though not a linear journey on a flat, even surface. With the help of Astrology, we are able to see, as from a high, the undulations and meanderings, the ease and difficulties of the terrain we cover in a lifetime. Most important, Astrology can help us realize that life journeys follow predictable cycles, unfolding at the right time to usher changes in the individual, preparing him/her for what lies ahead.

James and his astrological generation

James’ generation shares Uranus-Neptune in Aquarius, and Pluto in Sagittarius; positions that contribute to make him highly-strung, hypersensitive, perhaps difficult, defying convention, in order to uphold ideas (Aquarius) and principles (Sagittarius) truly his own.

James (Fixed Signs majority) has been living through intense times since Saturn entered Leo and Jupiter Scorpio (July, October 2005).

The life changing Transits and Progressions he is going through would be hard to handle even for an adult. James must have felt and is still feeling under a lot of pressure.

Reacting to extreme pressure with disruptive behaviour represents the line of least resistance for James. Let us see why it is so.

“The flame throwers, (born between) 1996-2003 (Generation Y-c) This will be a very outgoing, irrepressible, exuberant generation, quick to question authority ... convention. They will be brilliant intellectuals, inventors, reformers ... propagandists”. from Alan Meece’s ‘Horoscope for the New Millennium’

James’ character

The Virgo, Aquarius’ combination (Sun and Moon) often denotes intelligence, ability not only to learn, but to teach also. James will fulfill his destiny by contributing in practical ways (Virgo) to his community (Aquarius). Difficulties with emotional expression are common though, because both Signs can be overly analytical, trying to stay on top of ‘irrational’ feelings, in an attempt to exorcise them, thus often failing to fully embrace them.

His analytical powers will not help him to scan his own depths (Scorpio Mars-Chiron, Eighth House; Sun square Pluto; Saturn-Jupiter in Taurus).

Hard aspects, amongst Fixed Signs, indicate willfulness and potential for frustration. The latter, however, is a force that spurs one ahead, in defiance of difficulties. James has what it takes to win over Virgo’s self-defeating timidity (Aries Ascendant, strongly placed Mars, Sun trine Jupiter, Jupiter ‘rising’ First House, a prominent Uranus, Saturn trine Midheaven).

What About James? by Paola Possenti

Aries Ascendant shows his lively personality, his irrepressible side; the one likely to get him into trouble through displays of impulsiveness, anger, bossiness.

The emphasis on Leo shows creative powers (Leo Decan rising, Leo Mercury-Venus, Sun-Venus, Fifth or Leo House).

To add to Aries' impatient restlessness, the Horizon-Meridian's cross falls in active Cardinal Signs. When not working at some new project, or if lacking physical exercise, James becomes bored, agitated, hyperactive. Tantrums may ensue (Fixed Signs).

All this nervous-physical energy needs healthy outlets: physical (Aries, First), emotional (Scorpio, Eighth), psychological (Aquarius), creative (Leo, Fifth), viable (Virgo, Taurus, Second, Tenth).

The Ruling Planet is strong (Scorpio, Eighth: own Sign, House, zodiacal-accidental dignity). This, with the cool detachment of Aquarius Moon, should help him to develop, in time, the necessary self-control. Scorpio Mars indicates a magnetic, subtle, shrewd personality, willing and able to seek control of situations and people. The extraverted Ascendant will often disclose the strong resolve and passionate intensity of this rather private Mars.

There is a lot going on in James' subconscious, however, that he will not share with others. Painful experiences, if suppressed, could lead to angry outbursts, violent dislikes, mistrust of people, power struggles (Venus-Sun, Fifth, square Mars, Eighth, Scorpio Mars-Chiron conjunct).

At the same time, his insecurities (Moon-Mercury challenging restrictive Saturn, Virgo Sun, Mars-Chiron) are obvious, creating a puzzling hot-cold personality.

James' imagination, inventiveness (Moon-Uranus Aquarius) will seem, at times, to antagonize common sense (Saturn) and rationality (Mercury).

Virgo can become overly critical, verbally scathing, often a way of dealing with personal insecurities. While Scorpio gives, sometimes, a judgmental, sarcastic streak that he needs to tone down.

Displays of temper, swift moods, irrational fears are signs of a struggle between emotional dependency and desire for freedom (Moon conjunct Uranus, square Saturn).

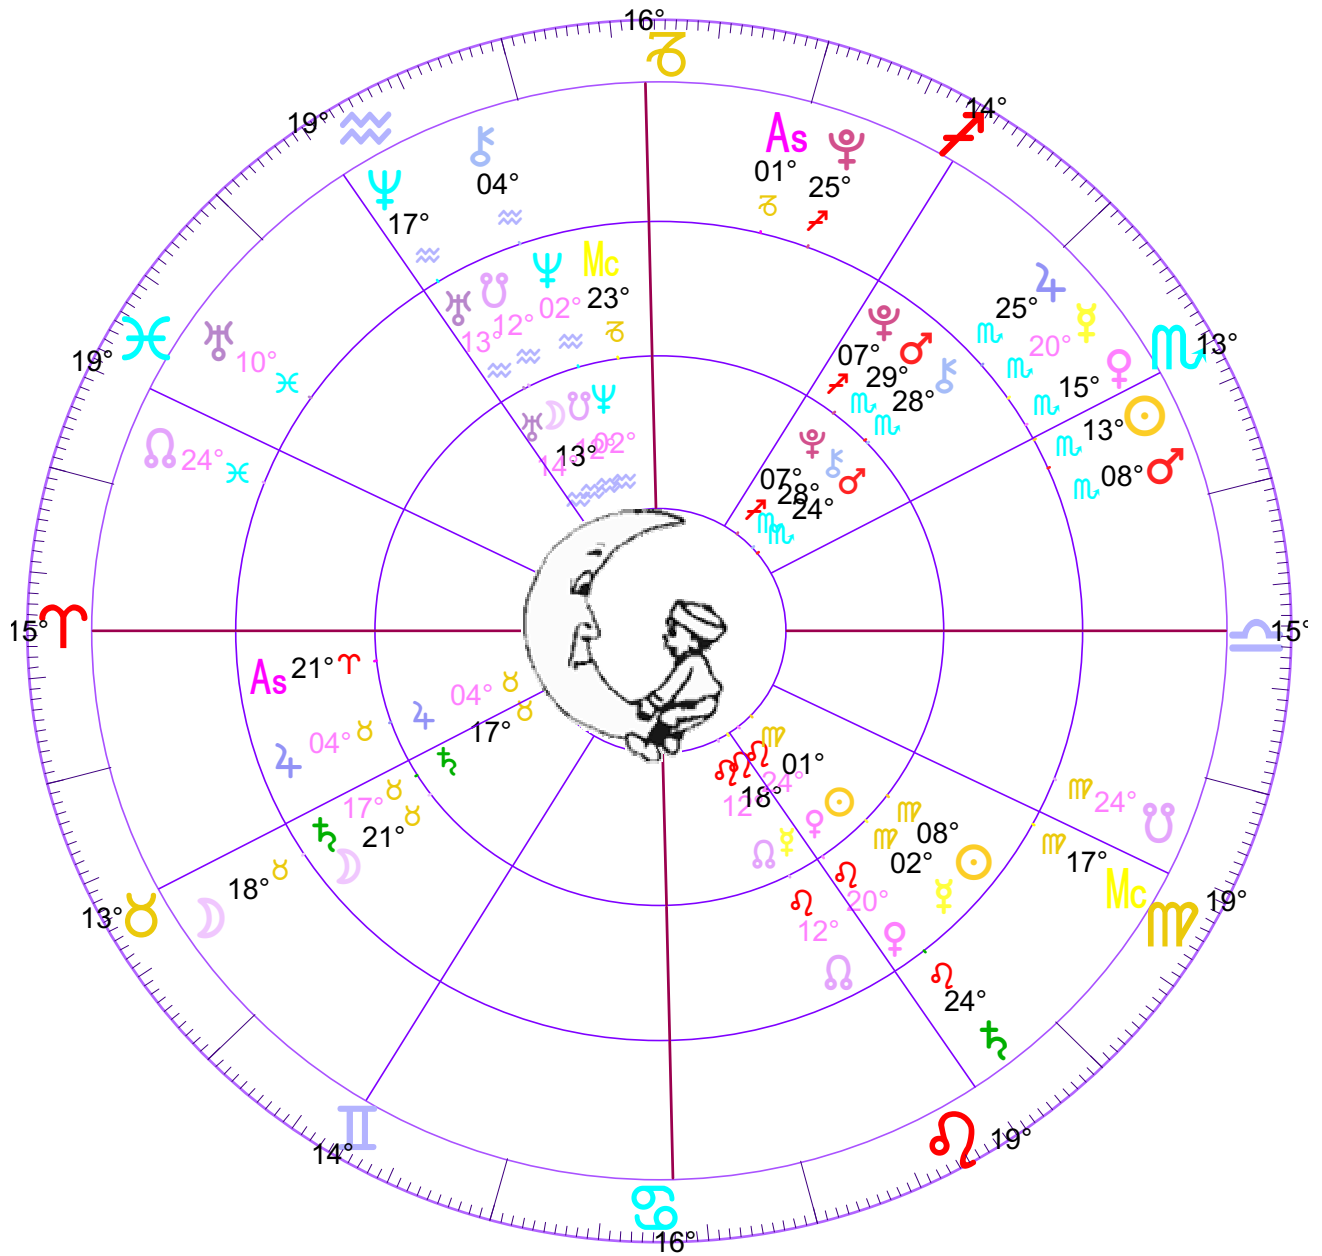

The waxing, nearly Full Moon adds hopeful anticipation of life promises.

James is brilliant, imaginative, perhaps self-important, and romantic (Sun Trine Jupiter). Not your stereotyped, unassuming Virgo.

He'll probably become more practical and conservative with age (the mature age planets Jupiter and Saturn in Taurus)

DYNAMIC EXAM Question 3, 2006

ACTIVE ENERGIES

RECENT PAST & CURRENT PERIOD

(from the winter of 2006 to the end of 2007)

Saturn in Transit

In 2006-2007, James is experiencing one of the most important periods of his psychophysical life. At seven, Saturn, the 'growing up' planet, has completed the First Quarter of its 30 year long orbit around the Sun, 90 degrees away from its natal position.

Saturn/tr in Leo squared Saturn/na in Taurus, on August 26 2006, practically on his birthday. Opposing, around the same time, Uranus/na, and, a month earlier, the Moon/na-North Node/na as well.

Furthermore, due to Retrogradation, Saturn/tr will approach the square Saturn/na again, in March-April 2007. This Saturnine phase will not be over, in fact, until the end of 2007.

Saturn represents the cosmic-psychic energy that helps us build an inner core of selfhood. Through Saturn's agency, we slowly mature and crystallize, learning to deal with the world.

We often experience Saturn's Transits as limiting, apparently barren periods, when much that happens seems to frustrate our desires, while helping us acquire the survival skills and sense of responsibility necessary in the world. This preparation implies a challenge, or test, which will temper and strengthen the individual.

From E. Sullivan's 'Saturn in Transit, Boundaries of Mind, Body, Soul':

" ... In this phase (the first seven years in the cycle of Saturn), the developing ego runs into important restrictions. ... more is expected from him.... It is the first step out into the world where little room is allowed for flexibility in the rules....

At this critical juncture.... Society, with its obvious and subtle demands, begins to mould and shape (Saturn) the individual's sense of self-worth. A child begins to emerge from his dream world of high emotional content and must suppress some of the more intuitive faculty"

The Seven year cycle could bring up the most rebellious, intractable side of James' nature, also much hidden pain and insecurity.

Saturn has been transiting James' home sector since July 2004. It has been, psychologically, a time of endings, when difficulties in his domestic life have weighed heavily on his spirits. James will resent authority, rigid routines, a too structured life style, at all times, but in particular now.

The Second House natal Saturn rules the 'reputation & career', as well as the 'friendship-aspirations' sectors (Capricorn Tenth House, Aquarius Eleventh), therefore these Transits are affecting his sense of security, public image, academic and social life.

What About James? by Paola Possenti

Natal hard aspects of Sun (square Mars, Chiron, Pluto) and Moon (conjunct Uranus, square Saturn, opposition Mercury) may indicate issues with both parents, perhaps early separation (Moon ruling the Fourth House, Saturn the Tenth). These could be underlying the present problems.

With Saturn transiting the home sector, he may be feeling emotionally isolated from his family, burdened by domestic rules and duties.

Learning difficulties and feelings of intellectual inadequacy may surface, while the conjunction Saturn/tr-Mercury/na is in force (energizing their natal square). Also possible are problems with siblings or kids his age (from mid-August to mid-September 2006; and, again, from early March to end of April 2007). In James' Chart, Mercury, the Brain planet, rules the Third House, sector of learning.

Due to natal opposition Mercury-Uranus, James' way of learning is individualistic, even a bit erratic. Concentrating could be a problem for him, while, when focused on something, he may find it difficult to be aware of other stimuli. His sense of timing may be also different, not sequential; and he might be clumsy (Moon-Uranus-Mercury connection). These traits could be easily interpreted as symptoms of ADHD.

In many cases, perhaps in James', the behaviour displayed may be due more to 'personality' than to a clinical condition (as his mum seems to feel, when she fears medications 'will destroy his personality').

It is interesting how similar traits have been observed in many amazing people (Einstein, Leonardo, Edison, Dali', to name a few).

We may well ask, as Jeffrey Zaslow, in his February 6 2005 article, (The Wall Street Journal): "What if Einstein had taken Ritalin?"

Considering Virgo's susceptibility to chemicals and addictive tendencies (Pisces polarity), plus the Moon's/na hard aspects, affecting digestion and assimilation, drugs should be the last resort.

The possibility of food intolerance, allergies (wheat, dairy, additives, preservatives, sugar) should be considered too (Moon/na square Saturn/na), with the adoption of dietary, lifestyle alternatives (Moon/na conjunct Uranus/na).

James is a 'right brain' child, with artistic tendencies (Leo Mercury-Venus, Virgo Sun conjunct Venus). Like many others, he may find it hard to function in a public school system, where left brain-linear thinking is mostly encouraged and rewarded (Saturn). Perhaps an alternative type of school could be the answer (Jupiter-Uranus). A place where creativity receives the same attention as logic/method; where children are not too regimented, and allowed more time for open air activities.

James may not be able to learn, unless it is made fun and exciting. A suitable outlet for his imagination would be to perform in his own puppet show, or a real theatre, or record stories with a video camera. Empathy and understanding will be encouraged by art and drama, interpreting other people's feelings as if they were his own (Leo Mercury-Venus; Fifth House Venus-Sun). Animal pets could help too (Aries-Virgo-Taurus).

Stressing his social or academic shortcomings could instead impair James' delicate self-confidence. He may begin to doubt his intelligence, a serious handicap for a Virgo-Aquarius!

The prominence of Fixed Signs plus accent on Leo energy could make him stubbornly defensive; pride and a competitive spirit (Leo-Aries) not helping him to accept criticism lightly.

James could become interested in Medicine or Science too (Virgo, Scorpio, Aquarius, Saturn), but as a non-lateral thinker (Uranus, Moon, Mercury)

Feeling unloved and more frustrated may be the outcome of Saturn/tr conjunct Venus/na, square Mars/na (on and off, from late October 2006 to late July 2007).

His relationships may go through a rough patch, proving difficult for James to cooperate (Venus), while becoming more antagonistic (Mars).

To avoid confrontations, he may want to spend more time on his own, possibly working doggedly at some creative project (Saturn Fifth).

All these Saturn's Transits are a big 'reality pill' that James needs to swallow, in order to grow out of some of his childhood's most stubborn illusions.

On September 12, Saturn/tr entered the Fifth House, sector of creativity, where it will transit until August 2009.

Saturn's attention is shifting to matters of self-expression, contributing to subdue the artistic side of James' temperament, introducing method in his creativity.

The conjunction Saturn/tr-Sun/na (exact September 9 2007) marks, in my opinion, the beginning of the end of the heavy Saturnine period James has experienced since 2005. A greater degree of maturity will be hopefully the outcome.

From early September to the year's end, a square Saturn/tr to Pluto/na (exact November 20 2007) and opposition Moon/pr to Pluto/na could still be very challenging.

It all depends on how successfully the child and his family dealt with the earlier tests.

The Progressed Moon, from Taurus to Gemini

The Pr.Moon in Taurus (from April 2005 to May 2007) and the Second House (since September 2006) has contributed to the intense character of this period.

The Moon symbolizes the emotional sensitivity through which we filter all life experiences. By Progression, it changes Sign every 2.2 years.

During the Taurus period, jealousies, resentments, obsessive thought patterns can be problems. James may perceive his mother as too controlling.

There is a tendency to erupt emotionally. The apparent causes may seem insignificant, while the real ones remain deeply buried in his psyche, hurt that has been there since infancy (Moon/pr square Venus/na, December 2006 to January 2007, and Moon/pr opposition Mars/na, January-February 2007. See also Mars' Transits).

Is James' mum a professional woman, a single parent (Tenth House Moon), who, in order to provide security, was unable to spend enough time with the child when he was little?

Has she, perhaps, suffered depression after James was born? (Moon-Uranus square Saturn, opposition Mercury)?

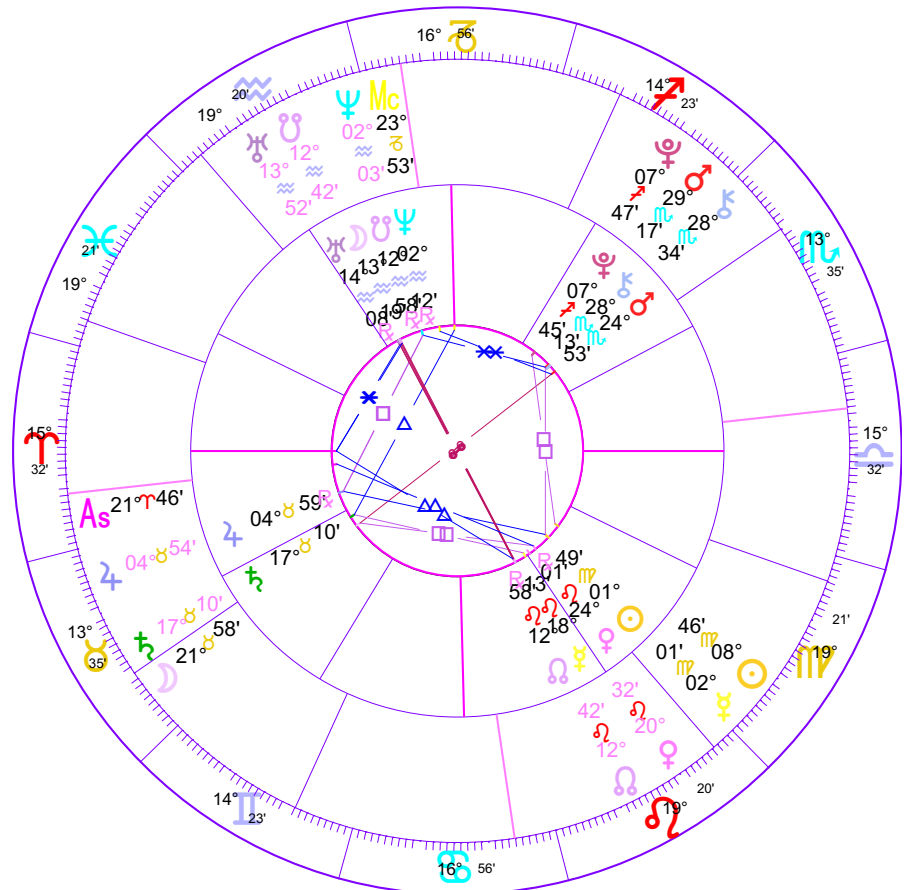

Has his upbringing been too conservative (Taurus Jupiter-Saturn) for his individualistic outlook (Aquarius Moon-Uranus)?

Whatever the reason, James has often missed mum's support and understanding, feeling alienated from her. His tantrums at school and home may be a covert way (Scorpio, Eight House Mars) to get back at her.

The child now needs more affection and encouragement than ever; also lots of hugs (Taurus Moon). Getting his mother's or parents' undivided attention could indeed heal many wounds. Spending quality time together, possibly in natural surroundings, with pets, doing pottery, sculpture, gardening could help re-establish emotional bonding.

The Moon/pr will enter Gemini, on May 31 2007. This change could bring much improvement in James' attitude. If Taurus can be broody, mentally lazy, stubborn, Gemini is instead lighthearted, adaptable, emotionally more independent. The Gemini Moon could assist James' learning, improving his social life, relationships with siblings and kids his age.

The harmonious trine of Moon/pr to Neptune/na, in July-August, could help James, in subtle, mysterious ways, to re-connect spiritually with his mum and family. All concerned may be more receptive and forgiving.

- JAMES' SECONDARY PROGRESSIONS & Natal Chart (inner wheel)

What About James? by Paola Possenti

Hot Martial periods:

- ◆ Particularly, October, November, December 2006
- ◆ Also March, April, and July, August 2007

Milder Martial periods:

- ◆ January, February, May, June 2007
- ◆ You can look up Mars Transits' red entries in the Appendix.
- ◆ Future wise, an important astro-event will occur on December 27 2007:
- ◆ Mars/pr will enter Sag (next 44 yrs). Very significant. Slowly but surely, a lighter, more philosophical (Sagittarius) outlook (Ruling planet) will gain awareness. It will make it easier to deal with emotional impasses (Scorpio Mars/na).

“The key meaning of ...Scorpio, or the Eighth House ..., is the need to learn self-knowledge through the mirror of close peers, and ... self-mastery out of respect for the rights of others” Zipporah Dobyns’

Briefly Neptune

Neptune represents our dream-consciousness, longing for unity, unconditional love, divinity; but also all that is chaotic, unrealistic, delusional in us.

From March 2006 to January 2007, Neptune/tr opposes Mercury/na and square Saturn/na.

Neptune/na is in the career House, closest body to Midheaven, and rules the natal House of self-undoing (Twelfth).

Thinking (Mercury) and efficiency (Saturn) become clouded under Neptune's Transits. One feels discontented, drifting into reveries, finding hard to concentrate or stick to plans. These too could be disheartening influences, suggesting hopelessness, perhaps despair. Emotional support from family and teachers is of paramount importance to heal a primarily 'spiritual wound'.

Writing poetry, music, art could give meaningful voice to these melancholy, yet inspired Transits.

Briefly Jupiter

Since October 2005, Jupiter has transited Scorpio, 'magnifying' James' challenges.

On November 24, Jupiter enters Sagittarius. When conjunct Pluto/na (December 30), the first time in James' life, it will help to unlock inner potential. From February 2007 to February 2008, Jupiter will transit the Ninth House, offering new opportunities, especially through study and/or travel.

Briefly Chiron

From February to November 2007, Chiron/tr will conjunct James' Moon/na (exact March 15, August 1), re-opening old wounds, but hopefully also initiating the family's healing journey.
